

Instructions for LEAs to consider when creating a library materials policy

81 Request Form (See Appendix A).
- 82 G. The requestor must provide all information requested on the form including the requestor's 83 complaint or objection to the library material.
- 84 H. The material that is subject to a review request will have restricted access by maintaining 85 the material behind the circulation desk or requiring an access code for digital materials
86 until the processes described in this policy are completed. Access is limited to students with 87 prior parent/guardian permission only.

- 104 determined timeline with a preference for 30 school days where possible and no longer
- 105 than 60 school days.
- 106 L. The Review Committee may request that the ____ (LEA’s name) board determine the
- 107 maximum amount of time allowed for review and determination.

- 127 S. The Review Committee will determine whether the material constitutes sensitive material
- 128 consistent with Section 53G-10-103 and this policy.
- 129 T. In deciding whether the material constitutes sensitive material, the Committee must:
- 130 1. consider all elements of the definitions of pornographic or indecent materials as
- 131 defined in Utah Code Sections 76-10-1235, 76-10-1201, 76-10-1203, and 76-10-
- 132 1227; and
- 133 2. whether the material is age appropriate due to vulgarity or violence.
- 134 U. In deciding whether the material is age appropriate due to vulgarity or violence, the
- 135 Committee must consider the material taken as a whole and consider whether it has serious
- 136 literary, artistic, political, or scientific value for minors, which must include the objective
- 137 criteria applied to determine the material’s serious literary, artistic, political, or scientific

160 appeal the determination of the Review Committee in writing to the school principal within 161 15 business days of receipt of the Review Committee’s final determination using an Appeal
162 Request Form (See Appendix B).
163 B. If an appeal is filed with the school principal, the local board of education will act as the 164 Appeals Committee.
165 1. The local governing authority (Appeal Committee) may add parent or school
166 administrator member(s) who did not participate in the initial Review Committee,
167 only as necessary to have an odd number of members.
168 C. If there is not an appeal of the Review Committee’s recommendation, the Review
169 Committee’s recommendation is the final determination for the challenged material.
170 D. The Appeals Committee will determine the amount of time needed for an adequate review,
171 not longer than 60 school days and a preference for 30 school days, of a material required
172 to make a thorough and thoughtful decision and inform the requestor of the determined 173 timeline.
174 E. Members of the Appeals Committee will receive materials to complete the review process,
175 including the following:

189 challenged material for all students;
190

- 191 2. Restricted: the determination to restrict access in a school setting to the 192 challenged material for certain students;
193 3. Removed: the determination to prohibit access in a school setting to the 194 challenged material for all students; or 195 4. Another determination as decided by the Appeals Committee.
196 I. The decision of the Appeals Committee will be determined by majority vote.
197 J. A material may not be reviewed again for three school years if the Appeals Committee votes
198 to uphold a Review Committee’s determination.
199 K. The final determination of the Appeals Committee will be communicated to the requestor 200 and appropriate employees within 10 days of the determination.
201 L. ____ (LEA’s name) will maintain a list of the determinations by Appeals Committee and make 202 the list available to all schools within ____ (LEA’s name).
203

204 VII. Final Procedural Review (Not Legally Binding until USBE amends R277-123)

- 205 A. The requestor in V.A., may petition the USBE for a review of the Appeals Committee’s 206 decision.
207 1. The USBE will review the petition and accept the petition for review only if the 208 USBE determines that an LEA may have violated the procedures of the LEA’s
209 Library Materials Selection Process, or that the LEA’s policy does not follow the 210 law.
211 2. That determination may include the USBE’s decision to have the appeal considered
212 initially by a USBE Committee or a panel of USBE members.
213 3. If the USBE determines that the LEA may have failed to follow the LEA’s Library
214 Materials Selection Policy or Process, or that the LEA’s policy does not the law, the 215 USBE will determine procedures and timelines for final review of the party’s
216 request for an appeal to the USBE.
217 B. The USBE will make a final written appeal decision no more than 20 school days after 218 the USBE’s determination that the appeal satisfies the criteria for USBE review.
219 C. This USBE review decision is final.
220

221 VIII. Communication

313 MEMORANDUM TO LEAs

314 TO: LEAs
315 FROM: Ashley Biehl, Assistant Attorney General
316 RE: Laws surrounding library policies
317 DATE: 05/03/2022

318
319 The document outlines the law as it pertains to school library books in Utah. The intent is to 320 provide LEAs with legal guidance. The Utah State Board of Education (USBE) will be releasing a
321 model library policy before the 2022-2023 school year that LEAs may utilize in addition to these 322 principles.

323 1. Do students have legal rights regarding access to school library materials?

324 Yes. The United States Supreme Court (“SCOTUS”) has an extremely long history of 325 recognizing that students have their own First Amendment rights in school. The removal of books
326 from a school library can constitute an official suppression of ideas, in violation of the First 327 Amendment. In Tinker v. Des Moines, SCOTUS held that “School officials do not possess absolute 328 authority over their students. Students in school as well as out of school are ‘persons’ under our 329 Constitution. They are possessed of fundamental rights which the State must respect.”¹ “The 330 vigilant protection of constitutional freedoms is nowhere more vital than in the community of 331 American schools.”²

332 In Island Trees v. Pico, SCOTUS noted that “[l]ocal school boards have broad discretion in 333 the management of school affairs, but such discretion must be exercised in a manner that comports
334 with the transcendent imperatives of the First Amendment. ... [T]he special characteristics of the 335 school library make that environment especially appropriate for the recognition of such rights.”³

¹ Tinker v. Des Moines Indep. Cmty. Sch. Dist., 393 U.S. 503, 511, 89 S. Ct. 733, 739, 21 L. Ed. 2d 731 (1969)

² Shelton v. Tucker, (364 U.S. 479), at 487 (81 S.Ct. 247, 5 L.Ed.2d 231) (1960)

³ Bd. of Educ., Island Trees Union Free Sch. Dist. No. 26 v. Pico, 457 U.S. 853, 853, 102 S. Ct. 2799, 2801, 73 L. Ed. 2d 435 (1982)

336 Finally, SCOTUS has stated that “students must always remain free to inquire, to study and 337 to evaluate, to gain new maturity and understanding.”⁴ “The school library is the principal locus of 338 such freedom.”⁵

339

340 2. What is the legal standard for assessing what is harmful to minors?

341 Utah Code Annotated (UCA) 76-10-1201⁶ defines harmful to minors. It is important to note that 342 to be defined as harmful to minors, a book must meet all three factors outlined below.

343 (5)(a) “Harmful to minors” means that quality of any description or representation, in 344 whatsoever form, of nudity, sexual conduct, sexual excitement, or sadomasochistic abuse when it:

345 (i) taken as a whole, appeals to the prurient interest in sex of minors;

346 (ii) is patently offensive to prevailing standards in the adult community as a whole with 347 respect to what is suitable material for minors; and

348 (iii) taken as a whole, does not have serious value for minors.

349 (b) Serious value includes only serious literary, artistic, political or scientific value for 350 minors.

352 This means that a work that contains nudity, sexual conduct, sexual excitement, or 353 sadomasochistic abuse is not harmful to minors on its face. If a work contains one of those things
354 (as defined below), it MUST then be considered under this three-factor test. In order to be harmful
355 to minors, the work must contain nudity, sexual conduct, sexual excitement or sadomasochistic
356 abuse AND appeal to the prurient interest in sex of minors, be patently offensive to prevailing
357 standards in the adult community as a whole with respect to what is suitable for minors, AND lack 358 serious literary, artistic, political, or scientific value.

359

360 EXAMPLE: A book on anatomy contains depiction of nudity. This book is not harmful to minors
361 because it does not appeal to the prurient interest in sex of minors, and has serious scientific value
362 for minors.

364 EXAMPLE: Bram Stoker’s Dracula contains a scene of sexual conduct. This book is not harmful 365 to minors because it does not appeal to the prurient interest of minors, is not patently offensive to 366 prevailing standards in the adult community when taken as a whole with respect to what is suitable 367 to minors, and it has serious literary value.

368

369 EXAMPLE: Penthouse Magazine is likely to be considered harmful to minors as it appeals to the 370 prurient interests in sex, would likely be deemed to be patently offensive to prevailing standards in 371 the adult community with respect to what is suitable for minors, and arguably lacks serious literary,
372 artistic, political and scientific value.

373

374 i. How is nudity defined?

375 UCA 76-10-1201

376

⁴ Bd. of Educ., Island Trees Union Free Sch. Dist. No. 26 v. Pico, quoting Keyishian v. Bd. of Regents of Univ. of State of N. Y., 385 U.S. 589, 603, 87 S. Ct. 675, 683, 17 L. Ed. 2d 629 (1967)

⁵ Bd. of Educ., Island Trees Union Free Sch. Dist. No. 26 v. Pico, 457 U.S. 853, 868–69, 102 S. Ct. 2799, 2809, 73 L. Ed. 2d 435 (1982)

⁶ Utah Code Ann. § 76-10-1201

377 (10) “Nudity” means:

378 (a) the showing of the human male or female genitals, pubic area, or buttocks, with less than an 379 opaque covering;

380 (b) the showing of a female breast with less than an opaque covering, or any portion of the female
381 breast below the top of the areola; or

382 (c) the depiction of covered male genitals in a discernibly turgid state.

383

384 ii. How is sexual conduct defined?

385

387

388 (14) “Sexual conduct” means acts of masturbation, sexual intercourse, or any touching of a person's 389 clothed or unclothed genitals, pubic area, buttocks, or, if the person is a female, breast, whether 390 alone or between members of the same or opposite sex or between humans and animals in an act of 391 apparent or actual sexual stimulation or gratification.

392 iii. How is sexual excitement defined?

393 UCA 76-10-1201

394 (15) “Sexual excitement” means a condition of human male or female genitals when in a state of 395 sexual stimulation or arousal, or the sensual experiences of humans engaging in or witnessing 396 sexual conduct or nudity.

397 iv. How is sadomasochistic abuse defined?

398 UCA 76-10-1201

399 (13) “Sadomasochistic abuse” means:

400 (a) flagellation or torture by or upon a person who is nude or clad in undergarments, a mask, or in a
401 revealing or bizarre costume; or

402 (b) the condition of being fettered, bound, or otherwise physically restrained on the part of a person
403 clothed as described in Subsection (13)(a).

404

405 v. What does “prurient interest” mean?

406

407 SCOTUS has defined prurient interest as: “Material appeals to the prurient interest, for 408 instance, only if it is in some sense erotic.”⁷

410 The Utah Supreme Court has also clarified that “Material does not evoke 411 a prurient interest unless it has the capacity to provoke ‘sexual responses over and beyond those 412 that would be characterized as normal.’”⁸ “An expression or depiction must at least be erotic in 413 some significant way to the average person”.⁹

414

415 vi. What standards must be used to determine if an item has scientific, literary, political 416 or artistic value?

⁷ Ashcroft v. Am. C.L. Union, 535 U.S. 564, 579, 122 S. Ct. 1700, 1710, 152 L. Ed. 2d 771 (2002).

⁸ City of St. George v. Turner, 860 P.2d 929, 934 (Utah 1993), citing Brockett v. Spokane Arcades, Inc., 472 U.S. 491, 498, 105 S.Ct. 2794, 2799, 86 L.Ed.2d 394 (1985).

⁹ City of St. George v. Turner, 860 P.2d 929, 934 (Utah 1993), citing Cohen v. California, 403 U.S. 15, 91 S.Ct. 1780, 29 L.Ed.2d 284 (1971)

417
418 To determine whether a book has scientific, literary, political or artistic value, the 419 determining factor is whether a reasonable person would find value in the material when taken as a 420 whole. This factor utilizes a national floor for what constitutes value. Thus, the work must be 421 considered as a whole, and must be looked at through the lens of whether a reasonable person in 422 America would think it has redeeming value.

423
424 In Ashcroft v. ACLU, SCOTUS laid out this standard as follows: “[T]he value of [a] work 425 [does not] vary from community to community based on the degree of local acceptance it has 426 won.”¹⁰ Rather, the relevant question is “whether a reasonable person would find ... value in the 427 material, taken as a whole.”¹¹ Thus, the serious value requirement “allows appellate courts to 428 impose some limitations and regularity on the definition by setting, as a matter of law, a national 429 floor for socially redeeming value.”

431 UCA 76-10-1227 (c) provides that “(c) A description or depiction of illicit sex or sexual 432 immorality as defined in Subsection (1)(a)(i), (ii), or (iii) has no serious value for minors.”
433 Subsection (1)(a)(i-iii) reads: “) "Description or depiction of illicit sex or sexual immorality"
434 means: (i) human genitals in a state of sexual stimulation or arousal; (ii) acts of human 435 masturbation, sexual intercourse, or sodomy; (iii) fondling or other erotic touching of human 436 genitals or pubic region”. However, it is important to remember that 76-10-1201 requires all three 437 prongs of the test to be met. Therefore, even if a book does not have literary, scientific, political or 438 artistic value for the above reasons, it must also patently offensive to prevailing standards in the 439 adult community as a whole with respect to what is suitable material for minors, and appeal to the 440 prurient interests in sex of minors, in order to be harmful to minors.

441
442 vii. Does this require a book to be considered as a whole when assessing suitability?

443
444 Yes. The third prong of “harmful to minors” requires a book to lack serious artistic,
445 scientific, political, or literary value. SCOTUS has defined this criteria as “whether a reasonable 446 person would find ... value in the material, taken as a whole.”¹² Therefore, the book must be 447 considered in its entirety when determining whether it has scientific, literary, artistic, or political 448 value.

450 Additionally, UCA 76-10-1227(2)(a) provides that: “Subject to Subsection (2)(c), this 451 section and Section 76-10-1228 do not apply to any material which, when taken as a whole, has 452 serious value for minors.”

453
454 Finally, the Utah Supreme Court has held that “under Supreme Court caselaw, an obscenity
455 analysis must focus on the work ‘taken as a whole’”.¹³

456
457 viii. Can books be banned if, taken as a whole, they are vulgar or educationally
458 unsuitable?

460 Yes. SCOTUS has held that “an unconstitutional motivation would not be demonstrated if it 461 were shown that petitioners had decided to remove the books at issue because those books were 462 pervasively vulgar. ...[I]f it were demonstrated that the removal decision was based solely upon the 463 “educational suitability” of the books in question, then their removal would be “perfectly 464 permissible.”¹⁴
465
466

467 3. Are library books and books assigned as apart of classroom curricula subject to the 468 same standard?

469 No. Library Books are given significantly wider protection under the First Amendment than 470 books that are assigned as a part of school curriculum.

471 “Petitioners might well defend their claim of absolute discretion in matters of curriculum by 472 reliance upon their duty to inculcate community values. But we think that petitioners' reliance upon 473 that duty is misplaced where, as here, they attempt to extend their claim of absolute discretion 474 beyond the compulsory environment of the classroom, into the school library and the regime of 475 voluntary inquiry that there holds sway.”¹⁵
476

478 4. What factors may NOT go into a book removal?

479 Books may not be removed because they contain ideas that local school boards disagree
480 with based upon: politics, nationalism, religion, or other matters of opinion.

481 “In brief, we hold that local school boards may not remove books from school library 482 shelves simply because they dislike the ideas contained in those books and seek by their removal to 483 “prescribe what shall be orthodox in politics, nationalism, religion, or other matters of 484 opinion.” Such purposes stand inescapably condemned by our precedents.”¹⁶
485

486 “Petitioners rightly possess discretion to determine the content of their school libraries. But 487 that discretion may not be exercised in a narrowly partisan or political manner.”¹⁷
488

489 5. Does HB 374 change the standard for school library books?

490 No. HB 374 prohibits sensitive materials in the school setting. HB 374 defines sensitive 491 material as “an instructional material that is pornographic or indecent material as that term is 492 defined in Section 76-10-1235.” Section 76-10-1235 defines pornographic or indecent material as:
493 “i) defined as harmful to minors in Section 76-10-1201; ii) described as pornographic in Section 76-
494 10-1203; or (iii) described in Section 76-10-1217.”

495 This section references back to 76-10-1201, which, as noted above in question 2, requires 496 the three prong test under 76-10-1201(5)(a) to be utilized in determining whether a material is 497 harmful to minors. Therefore, this three-prong test under 76-10-1201(5)(a) must always be utilized
498 when assessing whether a library book is ‘sensitive material’. It also references UCA 76-10-1203,
499 which provides the same test as 76-10-1201(5), with the difference that the first two prongs assess
500 what appeals to the prurient interests in sex or is patently offensive to adults, rather than minors.
501 UCA 76-10-1203 essentially repeats the same three-prong test, but focuses on adults, rather than 502 minors.

503

504 6. Are library books included in HB 374?

505 Yes, though HB 374 does not change the standard that is used to assess school library books,
506 which is noted above in question 2, and can be found under UCA 76-10-1201.

507 HB 374 defines instructional materials as:

508 (1)(a) (i) "Instructional material" means a material, regardless of format, used:

509 (A) as or in place of textbooks to deliver curriculum within the state curriculum 122
510 framework for courses of study by students; or

511 (B) to support a student's learning in the school setting.

512 (ii) "Instructional material" includes reading materials, handouts, videos, digital 125 materials,
513 websites, online applications, and live presentations.

514 ...

515 (f) (i) "School setting" means, for a public school:

516 (A) in a classroom;

517 (B) in a school library; or

518 (C) on school property

519 (g) (i) "Sensitive material" means an instructional material that is pornographic or indecent material
520 as that term is defined in Section 76-10-1235.

521 (ii) "Sensitive material" does not include an instructional material:

522 (A) that an LEA selects under Section 53G-10-402;

523 (B) for medical courses;

524 (C) for family and consumer science courses; or

525 (D) for another course the state board exempts in state board rule.

526 As noted in question 5, HB 374 defines sensitive material as “an instructional material that 527 is pornographic or indecent material as that term is defined in Section 76-10-1235.” Section 76-10-
528 1235 defines pornographic or indecent material as: “(i) defined as harmful to minors in Section 76-
529 10-1201; ii) described as pornographic in Section 76-10-1203; or (iii) described in Section 76-10-530 1217.”

531 Section 76-10-1201, requires the three prong test under 76-10-1201(5)(a) to be utilized in 532 determining whether a material is harmful to children, and section 76-10-1203 essentially provides 533 the same test. Therefore, this three-prong test under 76-10-1201(5)(a) must be utilized when 534 assessing whether a library book is ‘sensitive material’.

535

536 7. What should be done with a book while it is pending review?

537 While there is no specific law stating that books must be left in the library when facing a
538 challenge, leaving books on the shelves while pending review helps to ensure that schools are not 539 engaging in prior restraint. As noted in question 1, students have extensive first amendment rights
540 in school, and the removal of a book from a school library can constitute a suppression of ideas.
541 Prior restraint is a legal doctrine in the first amendment is violated when the government prevents 542 speech before it occurs. In this case, removing books before a determination is made as to whether 543 they meet the definition of “harmful to children” runs the risk of violating student’s first 544 amendment right’s to study and inquire, via prior restraint.

545 SCOTUS has a long history of disfavoring prior restraints. “Prior restraints on speech and 546 publication are the most serious and the least tolerable infringement on First Amendment rights,” 547 wrote then-Chief Justice Warren Burger. SCOTUS has held that “[a]ny system of prior restraints of 548 expression comes to this Court bearing a heavy presumption against its constitutional validity.”¹⁸
549 They further noted that “[t]he special vice of a prior restraint is that communication will be
550 suppressed, either directly or by inducing excessive caution in the speaker, before an adequate
551 determination that it is unprotected by the First Amendment.”¹⁹

RE: Official Memorandum-Laws Surrounding School Libraries

Introduction

This memorandum provides analysis regarding HB 374, Sensitive Materials in Schools, and its prohibition of obscenity in school libraries. This memorandum supersedes any prior memorandum or other information previously provided by the Office of the Utah Attorney General (AGO) on the question of removing pornographic books from school libraries, including a May 4, 2022 memorandum from AGO Education Division Counsel (May 4 Memo), titled "Laws surrounding school libraries." Any conflict or inconsistency between this document and any prior pronouncement from the AGO should be resolved in favor of the analysis herein. Any relevant part of the May 4 Memo not inconsistent with this document is incorporated by reference.

This memorandum has been personally written, reviewed, and approved by the Utah Attorney General and senior executive leadership of the AGO and constitutes the official position of the AGO (Official Memo). Our office was asked by the Utah State Board of Education (Board) and local education agencies (LEAs) to address issues limited to removal of inappropriate books in school libraries. Thus, the Official Memo does not address broader issues of appropriate classroom materials or other school curricula and focuses solely on school library

19 books.¹ The focus and emphasis on these materials should not, therefore, be interpreted as the 20 sum of AGO analysis on all issues relating to HB 374. The AGO is available to provide analysis

22 ¹The May 4 Memo similarly does not address these broader issues because the AGO was only asked about the 23 limited question of books in school libraries.

to the Board and LEAs on these broader issues if we are asked to do so as contemplated by state statute.

Background

With access and addiction to pornography increasing among Utah children, the average age of first exposure and addiction to pornography among young people reaching pre-pubescent levels, and an increasing online threat of porn to the health, development, and welfare of youth, the Utah State Legislature has taken very positive and proactive measures to address the threat of pornography to schoolchildren. Parenthetically, through the multiple programs of the AGO, including its Internet Crimes Against Children Taskforce (ICAC), Children's Justice Centers (CJCs), Secure Strikeforce, and online training resources, the AGO is at the front line every day of protecting vulnerable Utah children from exposure to and exploitation from pornography. In cases we investigate and prosecute, we witness the devastation to child victims and survivors of pornography exploitation and exposure.

Among other measures to combat pornography's detrimental impact on children, the Utah Legislature recently passed HB 374 which addresses "sensitive materials" that the Legislature intends to prohibit in the school setting and designates exceptions for certain instructional materials. The State of Utah has recognized that pornography in Utah is a public health crisis and that the school settings are places where "pornographic or indecent materials" will not be allowed. Because HB 374 applies to both textbooks used to deliver curriculum and material used to support a student's learning in the school setting, it applies to library books in public schools.

Executive Summary

Library books in Utah public schools are prohibited if they are pornographic or indecent as defined under one of three state statutes. The Board must create model policies consistent with such statutes, including HB 374, for LEAs. In turn, LEAs must follow such policies to comply with state statutes. As is the case with most laws that implicate the First Amendment of the United States Constitution, HB 374 will likely be subject to legal challenge. If the law is challenged, the AGO will vigorously defend the law.

As further detailed below, there are actions the Board and LEAs may take in complying with HB 374 to mitigate the risk of legal challenge. The first is to immediately remove books from school libraries that are categorically defined as pornography under state statute. This will help protect the LEAs from potential lawsuits brought by parents or groups alleging the school failed to comply with state laws.

The second mitigation action comes into play as LEAs remove pornographic materials from libraries. In such instances, any legal challenge to that removal will be analyzed under both

Utah statute (including HB 374) and federal law.² However, under federal law, there are some conflicts as to the appropriate standard and there is no definitive United States Supreme Court precedent governing removal of library books. Because under federal law, categorical exclusions alone may not be sufficient, the LEAs can further mitigate risk regarding their removal decision by engaging in analysis as to any overall value the materials may have that might forestall removal. Undertaking such an analysis in good faith significantly increases the likelihood of overcoming a legal challenge to the removal of the book.

Nothing in the legal analysis contained in the May 4 Memo or Official Memo should be read to undermine the legislative goals or the laws which aim to initiate and bring about the proactive removal of obscenity from school libraries. The AGO views the Board's responsibility as creating model policies for LEAs to strictly comply with HB 374.

While the AGO cannot determine on a book-by-book basis which materials should be removed, the office supports schools and the Board as they execute their duties in evaluating what materials can be removed under state and federal law. The AGO has, therefore, provided analysis on the standards found in statute and in case law, but declines to designate which books are likely to survive legal challenge if removed from public school library shelves.

Analysis

This Official Memo is provided to clarify certain points of law discussed in the May 4 Memo and to assure appropriate context on certain matters.

1. The purpose of the May 4 Memo and this Official Memo is to provide analysis of HB 374 with respect to library books only.

Generally, the May 4 Memo was written in response to the requirement in HB 374 that the Board, in consultation with the AGO, "provide guidance and training to support public schools in identifying instructional materials that meet the definition of sensitive materials under" Section 530-10-103. More specifically, the May 4 Memo was for LEAs relating only to library books. (The first sentence of the Memo states that it "outlines the law as it pertains to school library books in Utah.") In fact, LEAs throughout Utah had requested information relating specifically to the handling of school library books pursuant to HB 374. Like the May 4 Memo, this Official Memo does not address course material. This Official Memo does not contain the AGO's discussions and analysis to the Board on other issues relating to HB 374. It is limited to the questions posed relating to the removal of certain books from library shelves due to reports of pervasively vulgar material, identified as sensitive materials under HB 374. The AGO will continue to consult with the Board relating to both school library books and other school course materials.

² The First Amendment provides that "Congress shall make no law ... abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press." It applies to the States by virtue of the Fourteenth Amendment. Git/ow v. New York, 268 U.S. 652, 666 (1925). The Supremacy Clause of the U.S. Constitution directs state courts that they "must not give effect to state laws that conflict with federal law[]." Armstrong v. Exceptional Child Center, Inc., 575 U.S. 320,324 (2015).

Accordingly, federal court decisions inform the analysis here.

2. Utah Law prohibits "sensitive material" in the school setting.

HB 374 (Section 53G-10-103) references three applicable definitions of "pornographic or indecent material." HB 374 creates a new legislative approach to identify "sensitive materials" in a school setting under Utah statute. Under HB 374, pornographic or indecent material means any material defined as harmful to minors in Section 76-10-1201, described as pornographic in Section 76-10-1203, or described in Section 76-10-1227. Under HB 374, if a school library book meets the definition of any of these three standards then the book should be removed from a school library.³ We reiterate our view that these definitions and standards are legally defensible. The relevant definitions are:

- a. Utah Code Ann. § 76-10-1201: "Harmful to minors" means that quality of any description or representation, in whatsoever form, of nudity, sexual conduct, sexual excitement, or sadomasochistic abuse when it:
 - (i) taken as a whole, appeals to the prurient interest in sex of minors;
 - (ii) is patently offensive to prevailing standards in the adult community as a whole with respect to what is suitable material for minors; and
 - (iii) taken as a whole, does not have serious value for minors.

As described in the May 4 Memo, if a school library book in Utah were identified and removed from a library shelf as vulgar or obscene based on this standard, it is likely to pass constitutional review in a subsequent legal challenge.

- b. Utah Code Ann. § 76-10-1203: Any material or performance is pornographic if:
 - (a) The average person, applying contemporary community standards, finds that, taken as a whole, it appeals to prurient interest in sex;
 - (b) It is patently offensive in the description or depiction of nudity, sexual conduct, sexual excitement, sadomasochistic abuse, or excretion; and
 - (c) Taken as a whole it does not have serious literary, artistic, political or scientific value.

As described in the May 4 Memo, if a school library book in Utah were identified and removed from a library shelf as vulgar or obscene based on this standard, it is likely to pass constitutional review in a subsequent legal challenge.

³ HB 374, as codified at Section 53G-10-103, defines "sensitive material" as an instructional material that is pornographic or indecent material as that term is defined in Section 76-10-1235, Accessing pornographic or indecent material on school property. When citing to the language of Section 1235 in the May 4 Memo, there was a citation error (i.e., it stated 1217 instead of 1227). To be clear, Section 76-10-1235 states that in a school setting or on school property in Utah, "Pornographic or indecent material" means any material: "(i) defined as harmful to minors in Section 76-10-1201; (ii) described as pornographic in Section 76-10-1203; or (iii) described in Section 76-10-1227."

- c. Utah Code Ann. § 76-10-1227: "Description or depiction of illicit sex or sexual immorality" means:
- (i) human genitals in a state of sexual stimulation or arousal;
 - (ii) acts of human masturbation, sexual intercourse, or sodomy;
 - (iii) fondling or other erotic touching of human genitals or pubic region; or
 - (iv) fondling or other erotic touching of the human buttock or female breast.

Section 1227(2)(a) states that subject to Section 1227(2)(c), "this section and Section 76-10-1228 do not apply to any material which, when taken as a whole, has serious value for minors." Section 1227(2)(c) states conclusively that subsections (i), (ii) and (iii) of 1227(1)(a) "ha[ve] no serious value for minors."

Section 1227(2)(c) can be read as a legislative directive that no description of illicit sex in subsections (i-iii) could have serious literary, artistic, political, or scientific value. Under that interpretation, if a book contains any of the material listed in subsections (i), (ii), or (iii), HB 374 requires the book to be removed from a school library. Such an interpretation creates categorical exclusions or a "bright line" rule. A decisionmaker that removes library books based on these defined categories directly complies with state statute. Other materials under category (iv), as per the plain language of the statute, can be assessed under a "taken as a whole analysis" to further comply with state statute.

Direct compliance with HB 374 and removal of books under state statutes 76-10-1201, 1203, and 1227 will likely insulate LEAs from lawsuits for violations of state statute.

3. Federal Law may require more than application of a bright line rule.

Even when removal of library books meets strict compliance with HB 374 and related state statutes, a legal challenge will invite application of federal First Amendment jurisprudence, a body of cases which have not favored bright line rules in obscenity cases. See, e.g., Home Box Off, Inc. v. Wilkinson, 531 F. Supp. 987, 996 (D. Utah 1982) ("It is elementary that merely calling something obscene doesn't make it so").⁴

⁴ The U.S. Supreme Court has long held that "the Fourteenth Amendment requires that regulation by the States of obscenity conform to procedures that will ensure against the curtailment of constitutionally protected expression, which is often separated from obscenity only by a dim and uncertain line." Bantam Books, Inc. v. Sullivan, 372 U.S. 58, 66 (1963). Simply put, while HB 374 provides very specific categories of materials to be removed, in federal jurisprudence, there is no bright line rule regarding the removal of books from library shelves in public schools under the U.S. Constitution.

A federal court might plausibly read Section 1227(2)(c) not as a bright line rule, but as a rebuttable presumption. That is, descriptions or depictions of things set forth in 1227(1)(a)(i), (ii), and (iii) presumably have no serious value for minors, unless the school proactively determines that such materials have serious literary, artistic, political, or scientific value. This is akin to the "taken as a whole" analysis that removal under subsection (iv) requires under Section 1227(2)(a) and (b). Failure to consider library materials "as a whole" may present risk of conflict with federal law. State v. Watts, 498 P.3d 365, 374-75 (Utah 2021) (citing Miller v. California, 413 U.S. 15, 18 (1973)).⁵

For example, removing a school library book because it contains a sole description or depiction of an act of "sexual intercourse" or "fondling" (or other forbidden depiction specified under Section 1227) may be subject to increased risk of legal challenge if the book would not otherwise be removed under Sections 1201 or 1203, or 1227 (iv), when taken as a whole.

A cardinal rule of statutory interpretation is that when a statute is susceptible to two plausible interpretations, it should be interpreted to avoid the constitutional conflict. See, e.g., Clark v. Martinez, 543 U.S. 371, 381-82 (2005); see also Hernandez v. Carrerra-Carlson, 547 F.3d 1237, 1251 (10th Cir. 2008) ("[E]ven after a court has construed a statute to avoid constitutional doubts, an agency remains free to interpret the same statute in a different manner so long as its subsequent interpretation is reasonable and avoids serious constitutional questions").

Accordingly, to further protect the bright line removal decisions made under state statute from any legal challenge, LEAs analyzing material under subsections (i), (ii), and (iii) of 1227(1)(a) may consider further analyzing the material under the "serious value" definition found in 1227(2)(b). Under 1227(2)(b) a book that otherwise violates 1227(1)(a) should remain on the shelves if it has "serious literary, artistic, political, or scientific value for minors, taking into consideration the ages of all minors who could be exposed to the material." This is not intended as a formula to avoid implementation of HB 374 but to bolster the removal decisions and assure there has been a thoughtful process to determine whether there is any redemptive value in the offending material.

In other words, even if the material is specifically listed in subsections (i), (ii), and (iii), the decisionmaker may consider independently analyzing whether such material has serious value for minors under 1227(2)(b). And, to further validate the removal decision under federal law, decisionmakers may consider assessing the materials "as a whole" when analyzing materials under Section 1227.

⁵ The possible ambiguity between bright line and rebuttable presumption of Section 1227(2)(c) is amplified by the fact that Section 1227 is generally meant to apply to indecent public displays. The First Amendment's obscenity analysis for public displays may differ from its obscenity analysis for library materials but is not addressed herein.

Any decision or attempt to resist removal of offending material under Section 1227 based on "serious value" or "as a whole," is fraught with its own risks and potential legal challenge by parents who believe the decision is too permissive and contrary to state statute. Cf. United States v. Stevens, 559 U.S. 460,478 (2010) ("But the text says 'serious' value, and 'serious' should be taken seriously."). Serious value does not mean any value. Of crucial note, this risk of lawsuits by parents only increases for libraries in elementary or middle schools versus high schools. See Utah Code § 76-10-1227(2)(b) ("serious value' ... taking into consideration the ages of all minors who could be exposed to the material").

4. Circuit courts disagree on the precedential impact of the Pico case.

In Board of Education, Island Trees Union Free School District No. 26 v. Pico, 457 U.S. 853 (1982) ("Pico"), the U.S. Supreme Court was faced with a challenge to the removal of books from library shelves by the defendant board of education. "[T]he only books at issue in [Pico] are library books, books that by their nature are optional rather than required reading." Id. at 862 (emphasis in original). The relevant question in Pico was whether the "First Amendment impose[s] any limitations upon the discretion of petitioners [the School Board] to remove library books from the Island Trees High School and Junior High School?" Id.

While Pico is the only case in which the Supreme Court has addressed the removal of books from library shelves, it is a plurality opinion-no part of the opinion garnered five votes. Justice Brennan's view, joined by Justices Marshall and Stevens, was that if there was a finding that the removals were based on viewpoint, then the removals violated the First Amendment. Id. at 871-72. Justice Blackmun concurred, finding that schools cannot remove books if "motivated simply by the officials' disapproval of the ideas involved." Id. at 879-80 (Blackmun, J., concurring). Justice White also concurred solely as to remanding the matter for a trial on whether the school board removed the books based on viewpoint or vulgarity. Id. at 883 (White, J., concurring). The dissenting justices (Chief Justice Burger joined by Justices Powell, Rehnquist, and O'Connor) questioned the plurality's recognition of the "right" of access to particular books: "It does not follow, however, that a school board must affirmatively aid the speaker in his communication with the recipient. In short the plurality suggests today that if a writer has something to say, the government through its schools must be the courier." Id. at 887 (Burger, C.J., dissenting).

The Pico case is the closest the U.S. Supreme Court has come to providing guidance on the issue of removal of books from school library shelves and supports the notion that "pervasively vulgar" books can be removed. Id. at 871. The Court later acknowledged this holding: "all members of the [Pico] Court, otherwise sharply divided, acknowledged that the school board has the authority to remove books that are vulgar." Bethel Sch. Dist. No. 403 v. Fraser, 478 U.S. 675,684 (1986).

Opinions from the circuit courts of appeals on the precedential nature of Pico are as divided as the justices were. At least two federal circuit courts have issued opinions suggesting that Justice Brennan's Pico plurality opinion is the opinion of the High Court. See, Monteiro v. Tempe Union High Sch. Dist., 158 F.3d 1022, 1027 & n.5 (9th Cir. 1998); see also Turkish Coal. Of Am., Inc. v. Bruininks, 678 F.3d 617, 623 (8th Cir. 2012). Neither of these cases directly addressed the issue of removal of books from library shelves and both distinguished Pico on those grounds. Monteiro, 158 F.3d at 1027; Turkish Coal, 678 F.3d at 623.

Other circuits have held otherwise. The Fifth Circuit concluded that "Pico is of no precedential value as to the application of the First Amendment to these issues." Muir v. Alabama Educ. Television Comm'n, 688 F.2d 1033, 1045 (5th Cir. 1982). Similarly, the Eleventh Circuit held that "[w]ith five different opinions and no part of any of them gathering five votes from among the nine justices [] Pico is a non-decision so far as precedent is concerned. It establishes no standard." Am. C.L. Union of Fla., Inc. v. Miami-Dade Cnty. Sch. Bd., 557 F.3d 1177, 1200 (11th Cir. 2009).

The Tenth Circuit-the case law that Utah is bound by-held that in "Pico, a plurality of the Supreme Court recognized a free speech 'right to receive' information and held unconstitutional a school board's censorship of several books from a school library." Roberts v. Madigan, 921 F.2d 1047, 1056 (10th Cir. 1990); but see Cummins v. Campbell, 44 F.3d 847,853 n.4 (10th Cir. 1994) (noting that Pico did not produce a "majority opinion on the merits"). Roberts involved a students' challenge of the opportunity to read the Bible. 921 F.2d at 1056. The Tenth Circuit recognized the similarity between the removal of the Christian books and the claims in Pico, but the court expressed no opinion as to the students' "right to receive ideas" because the Roberts ' plaintiffs lacked standing. Id.

Even if the Tenth Circuit were to treat Justice Brennan's plurality opinion in Pico as controlling, that opinion recognized that courts must apply the First Amendment "in light of the special characteristics of the school environment." 457 U.S. at 868 (quoting Tinker v. Des Moines School Dist., 393 U.S. 503, 508 (1969)). In Pico, Justice Brennan emphasized that the constitutionality of removal decisions "depends upon the motivation behind" the library book removals. Id. "[U]nconstitutional motivation would not be demonstrated if it were shown that petitioners had decided to remove the books at issue because those books were pervasively vulgar," nor if "the removal decision was based solely upon the 'educational suitability' of the books in question." Id. Following this reasoning, decisionmakers motivated to remove a book under an HB 374 challenge in order to protect youth from the public health crisis of pornography likely satisfy Pico's constitutional motivation analysis.

Conclusion

3 HB 374 prohibits pornographic or indecent material as defined as harmful to minors
4 in Section 76-10-1201, described as pornographic in Section 76-10-1203, or described in 5 Section 76-10-1227. School library books that meet any of these statutory definitions are 6 prohibited from school libraries. Analysis under these statutory definitions, or strict
7 application of the categorical exclusions in 1227(1)(a)(i), (ii), and (iii), is the way to directly
8 comply with HB 374. To mitigate the risk of legal challenge relating to decisions under 9 Section 1227, LEAs may also analyze the materials as a whole and determine whether the 10 materials have any serious literary, artistic, political, or scientific value. While these are 11 important considerations, nothing should prevent the Board and LEAs from proactively
12 complying with state law in removing pornographic books from library shelves. Any decision
13 to retain books in libraries that meet the definition of pornography is contrary to state statute
14 and significantly increases the likelihood of a lawsuit against the LEA for non-compliance.
15 The AGO will continue to consult with the Board and LEAs regarding analysis and 16 compliance with other facets of HB 374.
